As I entered, a shapely young brunette with a herchief on Nadia was the only and of the six girl disc jockeys un duty, at 14 a.m. a fulcy stack time. Two of them keep husy in the period from 1 pm to midnight, when most calls come in.

Nadia said at took her about mree days to absorb the rudiments of the job. The first thing she had to do was learn to said. Number Please, with just the right amount of honey in her voice. "I was pretty nervous at first," she admitted. She heaved a tired sigh now and then as she ran from one switch to another. She likes the job, although it nearly drives her wacky at dines. Musicale serves 42 outlets in 37 places, including cafes, titus, the sergeants' mess at Work Point, and petty officers' mess and men's canteen at Naden.

On a few very husy nights every single turniable has been playing, but normally 25 at once is a large numbes. At the looment six or seven records were playing. Even for that number, had had to amoke her cigarette by installments.

Records playing at the time included "Riticherry Hill," "Would I Love You," and "Come On to My House." One could distinguish only a fairly thread of melody. The predominant sound was the serviching of the special ostitum-tipped needles on the diacs.

The operator can monitor a record through a studio speaker if she likes but she must usually switch it off when a customer is calling, because the microphone picks up the sound. When the customer in a cafe a mile or more away drops a nickel in the slot, an electrical impulse species over a leased wire, and the figure 1 clicks up in an aperture on the control panel to indicate that one record has been ordered. The figure 2 indicates that a dime has been dropped to order two records. When the record is finished, a red light flicks on.

Bible of the operator is a book listing all the 12,000 selections, alphabetically and numerically, food operators in time learn to match numbers and titles without thinking. Most customers, unfortunately, ask for tunes by name instead of number. Some give a garbied version of the title. Others sing "da-da-de-dum," and expect the -poor girl to recognize the tune.

Another book lists artists names. A third lists types of music Irish tunes, square-dances, and such.

Nadia sometimes addresses the customer by name, if she knows the voice. I heard her say "Thanks, al."

"Thanks, Al."

"Than's one of the fellows who works here," she explained. The operator has to tolerate a certain number of wolves and hores. Often they ask what she's doing tonight or when she comes off shift. The lady stalls them politely and cuts them off if they get obnoxious. There isn't time for long conversations when the studio is busy, but sometimes the girls will let the customers josh them along at a stack hour. It makes for good public relations.

The system has operationally been used.

good public relations.

The system has occasionally been used for emergency calls, and sometimes fills in when the telephone lines break down.

I found Stanley Ireland; the shop foreman, in a back room which was full of luke boxes and coin-operated games under repair. The company handles these too. Mr. Ireland said the wired music system was founded and is still owned by Vie and Norman Little, long-time juke-box dealers.

It mushroomed from a one-cafe actup to its present size. Only six outlets now operate on the old system which pumps a succession of records at you without a choice. This system is repidly waning in popularity, and is being replaced as quickly as possible.

in addition to six girl operators, the firm employs nine service men and a bookkeeper.

A sheaf of cables leads out from the building, round the Capual Theatre, under Blanshard Street to the relepione exchange from where it fans out to all the cafes. It cost some $1,700 fo dig the cables under the street. The firm pays a telephone in the cables under the street.

Slyno to dig the cables under the street. The firm pays a telephone bill of about $350 a month.

Machines are operated on a share-percentage basis. Mr. Ireland says costs have nearly doubled while the price of a tune temains the same—a nickel nearly everywhere.

The company is giving some consideration to a plan to pipe "music-while-you-work" into offices, plants and stores.

Let's Have the By-Law

THE city has been holding consultations for weeks now over the smoke and cinder nuisance. That part of industry cinder nuisance. That part of industry which has already done something about a remedy, or stands prepared to do so, has signified its intention to co-operate. Some plants, it is conceded have gone the limit in prevention devices and did not need this spurring. Others, stood ready to act if the laggers would, and said so. Well, the fact is that for several decades the laggers have not acted to reduce the muisance; and that regrettably, is where compulsion comes in.

Having given fair warning that it intends to clean up to the best of its ability this permanent blight over the northeastern section of the community, the city council should bring forward its new anti-smoke by-law and put that in thoroughly practical shape. The advice and the technical findingsare in now, and there is no excuse for any are in now, and there is no excuse for any further delay in taking action towards alleviation of the nuisance.

For a number of years there has been a booming lumber market. If the milling industry is not prepared to measure up to its civic obligations now it never will. The by-law frankly will be for recalcitrants, and should fraintly will be for recalcitrants, and should have stiff penalty clauses added to ensure compliance. It has been proved often enough that a considerable portion of the waste material at present emitted by industrial smokestacks and fourners is not necessary. It both can, and must, be curbed. The by-law is the remedy.

It is too often forgotten when this subject is monitioned that the smoke and cinder cloud.

It is too often for cotten when this subject is mentioned that the smoke and cinder floud that hangs over a fixed segment of the city affects the same homes, blocks and area daily, year in and year out. It makes life miserable. This community needs payrolls and is plad to have them. At the same time, if "smog" is preventable, and modern technicians say that in large part it is, then why should such a condition he tolerared? If a mill-waste by-products plant would help to clear up some of the nuisance industry of it own accord should be glad to do something about that, without prodding. Co-operation all round would be the best solution, but when for three decades that has falled it is likely time, that the civic corporation took, a hand. Let's have the anti-smoke by lawwith "teeth" in-it.

A Sporting Offer

To young men who will be at a loose end during the last half of this month the local anti-aircraft reserve unit makes a spotting offer. It is that they go to camp at Albert Head, take part in what is in essence a two-week vacation from ordinary civilian routine, and enjoy a good time.

There are no strings to the offer. When the camp is over they are free to do as they please. If they don't like army life they can quit, and no hard feelings either way. Reserve army life, incidentally, is not what it used to be. Nowadays there are so many amenities, so many social and entertainment. amenities, so many social and entertainment aspects, not to speak of the inviting interest of learning about guns and other technical equipment and weapons, that it bears little resemblance to former years.

Anti-aircraft officers think that if young men knew what they were missing they would join the unit in a flash. They promise at the Albert Head-camp "good quarters, good food, good pay, and never's dell m ment." Any young man with time on his hards this month could do much worse than sample the truth of this statement. He will come back from camp feeling like a million.

Anyway, what has he got to lose? A two-Anyway, what has ne got to tose. A two-week training and vacation jount is one of the most pleasant ways of earning a substan-tial amount of money; and he is likely to find at the end of the camp period that reserve army association is really enjoyable. If he doesn't and decides to leave the unit he is free to do so. Nothing could be fairer than that.

Lack of Vision

THE process by which one of the prettiest THE process by which one of the process by which one of the process of Hatley Park has been turned into a gaunt, unornamented row of barracks—a dustbowl now mud-hath by winter—under the mested row of barracks—a dustrowl now and a mud-bath by winter—under the authority of the National Defence Department has to be seen to be really credited. Granted that more housing accommodation was needed in a hurry, did it have to be built like the gaunt mining towns of Northern Ontario? With every single tree eliminated, bleak row after row of wooden barracks bunkhouses and dwellings stand nakedly on the site. There is not at present even a blade the site. There is not at present even a blade of grass or a shrub to cover the holocaust left by the bulldozer and power shovel. Stately timber was felled, yarded into piles and burned apparently on a plan to strip the area clear

Well, the dividends are beginning to accrue. Not a footstep can be taken there now without raising a cloud of dust. What this will be like when the area is inhabited this will be like when the area is mnabited by hundreds of personnel may well beimagined. Because the ground has been stripped bare, the first rains will bring the opposite condition of mud, and seas of it.
Elementary vision would have suggested that some trees and cover be left, and treated the housing project as a parkland.
What service men or their families will think of the result when this housing is declared completed remains to be seen. The point is that this ugliness and denudation was encompleted remains to be seen. The point is that this ugliness and denudation was en-tirely unnecessary, and detrimental to the very purposes for which the accommodation was built.

HOSPITAL SCHEME

Sir, Mrs. M. G. Howard in The Colonist of July 21 refers to an Alberta provincial hospital acheme which "has worked well for years," and she leaves the impression that it has been avail-

Before the Social Credit government came into being in Alberta, legislation existed by which municipalities could organize rural hospitalization as low as a dollar a day per hed for ratepayers and others in that municipality; the deficit between the dollar per day and the actual cost-varying, naturally, in different years and in difdistricts being made up by a grant from the taxes. The charge to non-taxpavers was higher in some districts, I understand, than those Mrs. Howard quoted.

Under a scheme-seemily accepted in Calgary, ratepäyers will pay $i per day for a public ward bed, the difference, as in the rural scheme, being made up from taxation. Non-ratepayers will pay $15 per annum for a single person; $20 for

The one dollar per diem does not include any extras such as the operating room, separate diet, drugs, etc. These extras in the cities are costing $3 to $4 a day; in the municipalities, possibly as low as $1.50 to $2.

In order to receive the federal and provincial grants for a new hospital, the provincial government required the cities to accept the above plan. Mrs. Howard is slightly incorrect in her listing of free treatment. Only children receive free arthritic care; nor do hopeless cancer cases receive free treatment. They get some assistance ceive free treatment. They get some assistance from clearlable organizations if they desire it. There is an ever-increasing number of people who believe that a patient, regardless of his or her income, should have access to all the hospital facilities that are available, when needed. JOSE FERRER

Sir. May I through your courtesy comment upon the film "Cyrano de Bergerac". I wonder how many hundreds were thrilled as I was by the film. The speech and fine voice use of the principal actor were alone enough to make the an outstanding one. Not only was his ish speech impeccable but there was such intelligence and significance benind the words that they came to life and must have stirred all who heard them. Many films satisfy-the eye but disappoint the ear and depress the spirit because of futility of plot, ugly speech and voice or feeble acting. "Cyrano de Bergerae" as played by Jose Ferrer is superbly satisfying. The film appeals to ear as well as eye, to mind as well as heart, and in addition uplifting to the spirit, with its story so powerfully told of truth, self abnegation and self sacrifice.

MEAT HANDLING .

Sir.—A truck containing carcasses of beef was being unloaded outside a department store in Victoria one day last week. Not only was the meat unwrapped, but also the men handling it had no covering on their heads of any description, and this in a country which makes a big play on the hygienic handling of foods. In England all meat is wrapped and men carrying it are com-petied by law to wear overalls and cotton caps on their hair. It both surgrised and diagnisted me to see such law methods here.

vax-of cabbages and kings." By TOM TAYLOR

YOU would read in this paper a day Y or so ago about another Lady Godiva who rode through the streets preceded by a cloth, as they might have known, backed the wrong horse. The winner was the presumably comely miss perched on the back of a white steed, in conform tal lady of Coventry.

Godive, in the Festival year of Bri-tain, has definitely become the fashion. Ladies in nylon tights and flaxen wigs Ladies in nylon tights and flaxen wigs are springing up all over the place. So much so that the good people of Coventry recently urged their city fathers to take steps to protect the dignity of their heroine. They can't stop other towns from staging a Godiva but they want nothing improper about the re-enactment of the famo ride.

This is the angle that bothered the from Coventry, where Miss Ann Wrigg substituted for the Lady Godiva two. months ago.

Coventry clergy, however, must be more broad-minded than their col-leagues of Beesion. Never a word of protest was raised against Miss Wrigg.

protest was raised against Miss Wrigg.
This true that Miss Wrigg was reviving an historic episode, whereas Miss Elleen Roberts, the Beeston Godiva, was merely adding her act to the program of a charity concert. But ladies in nylon on white horses are ladies in nylon on white horses, no natter where they go once they leave the paddock.

The Beeston pastors were not very wise, or even logical. Said their leader: "It is not so much what will be seen as what will be imagined."

Now whatever it is that he imagined would be imagined by the populace can be imagined by any one of them with-out ever seeing a white horse, with or without a lady aboard. This is the weakness of the clergymen's case, and in this sophisticated age they are very naive to imagine otherwise.

How Miss Roberts looked last Saturday this column is not prepared to imagine, the distance being rather far, but Beestonians who didn't see her in her flaxen wig—assuming there were any such—would have no trouble mak-ing up for the deficiency. They could buy a movie magazine.

And it, as you know, would make Miss Roberts primness *personified. Indeed, it would scarcely leave anything to the imagination at all! The clergymen, surely, forgot about

The Coventry pastors were really much more discreet than their Beeston brethren. For by going ahead of Miss Roberts with loudspeakers voicing their protests the latter would merely and fuel to the fires of er Imagina-tion. By drawing attention to the fair lady of their displeasure they would ply swell the crowd of modern-day

(Remember, it was a monk who said there was, one of the monasterial fel-lows who benefited by the taxes the brave Godiva sought to eliminate from her husband's budget.)

Moreover, the Beeston clergymen didn't choose their hattleground well. In deciding to enter the lists against the imaginations of the town's populace they shouldn't have competed with a lady in nylon tights and a flaxen wig. Far better to have visited Miss Roberts on the Q.T. before she got on her white horse and sought to disauade her from staging her see. If she had proved as obdurate as the ledy she was about to emulate, they could have re-tired and let the show pass off qufetly. As it is they have stirred the imaginations of a thousand times the num ber of Beeston Peeping Toms.

The Buttle Lake Issue

By SETH HALTON, Colonist Managing Editor

PUBLIC hearings open this morning I in Courtenay into the British Co-lumbur Power Commission's plan to dam Buttle Lake. On their result rests the fate of one of this province's finest natural assets a sparkling, gem-like lake filled with trout and surrounded by snow-capped mountains and majes-tic stands of virgin timber.

have a further significance. Not on will the fate of Buttle Lake be settle and with it that of Strathcona Park, but a pattern will have been set for a potential. Can we retain some of the natural beauty of our land, or must it all be sacrificed on the altar of economic progress?

In the case of Buttle Lake the issue an additional storage reservoir for the John Hart hydro development on Camp-bell River. A group of conservation-ists, among them the noted Canadian author and naturalist, Roderick Haig-Brown, and American oilman W. J. Reid, oppose the scheme. They want to preserve Buttle as a recreational area and it is a priceless one and have the dam built on Upper Campbell

Lake instead.

There are a hundred arguments for either side, but the chief ones are

The power commission believes that the power commission believes that Buttle, set in a deep glacial bash, is a more natural site than Upper Camp-bell, which has relatively low and gradual slopes; that, a dam on Upper Campbell would be considerably more expensive; and that raising the level of Linger Campbell would fine. of Upper Campbell would flood the large fish-spawning areas on the Elk and Upper Campbell (or Buttle) argue that the Buttle Lake dam site may have -underground glacial streams beneath it and might be in secure; that the logical place to dam Upper Campbell is not right at the end of the lake, which would be expensive but at a location two and a half mil down the Campbell River from its point of egress from the lake; and finally, that raising the level of Buttle 25 or 30 feet would destroy the spawn-ing grounds that provide most of the fish for the entire watershed.

Says he is going to fight to have the St. Lawrence Seaway project in-cluded in the United States Senate's that he hopes to have it approved.

The issue of the spawning grounds is a technical one, but the conserva-tionists do seem to have a point and I believe they have the ichthyologists with them. To spawn, trout require running water and a gravelly bottom. These requirements are met at Buttle by the numerous small streams which off for short stretches before flowing

The spawn-ing grounds would be altered, not

The most telling argument of all, however, has nothing to do with the merits and costs of the respective dams, nor even the fish. It is the imponderable again, the question of the mauling industrial gunt reaching in to destroy a haven whose beauty is almost beyond parallel in this country. Park in 1911, went even further,

*  In Ellison's day the entire watershed from Campbell River to the Lower and Upper Campbell Lakes, as well as Buttle, was a thing of beadity. But in recent years, and as recently as last week, I have seen the area by foot, ear, boat and aircraft, and from any view-point its lower reaches are a picture of dreary desolation.

Lower Campbell Lake, once a re nowned fishing resort, now lies in the centre of some barren bloffs comcentre of some barren bloffs com-pletely logged off and burned off, and the proprietors of Forbes Landing Ho-tel are going broke. There are still fish in the lake, but there is nothing blse remotely attractive about it. The fishing grounds themselves are fre-quently closed off by logs and snags which the power commission seems helpless to remove.

Upper Campbell Lake is a little bet-ter, but not much. It hasn't been dammed like Lower Campbell, but the

It is certainly understandable that North "got excited" when he heard his pariner make a jump rebid over the non-committal one-spade response, and it was extremely temping for North to shoot the works when South showed five aces in his answer to the Blackwood four no-trump.

At the very least, North could count on South for a six-eard club suit, and if he did not have a king on the side, along with his aces, it seemed that to justify his jump rebid he must have an even longer club suit. In any case, and regardless of how doubtful South's bidding had been, North could see that the grand slam would depend on a linesse in hearts, at the very worst.

Actually, having strained a little pend on a linesse in hearts, at the very worst.

Actualls, having strained a little to hid the three clubs. South might have refused to be so truthful in answering the Blackwood call, i.e., he might have lied and announced only two aces, althought it must be admitted that this is usually a bad policy.

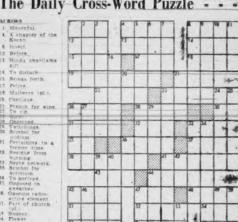

West made the neutral lead of a trump, and declarer, quite in the dark about the missing kings, wound up by taking the heart linesse and going down a trick. There can be no valid criticism of declarer's play, since he could searcely know that West had both red kings. If he had known this, he could have made the contract easily enough by drawing trumps, discarding two hearts on dummy's spades, and then running the rest of the club suit and cashing the heart ace. With one trump left, South would also hold the Q-7 of diamonds, while dummy kept the heart queen and the A-9 of diamonds. On the last club lead, West would either have to give up the heart king or blank his diamond by The Receiver, and to require the strainer of the research by The Receiver and the A-monds. On the last club lead, west would either have to give up the heart king or blank his diamond by The Receiver, and the Trouger Brothers and the A-B of diamonds. How It Started

A "FALLING OUT"—Discovering an Old Word

It is suggested that if a "falling out," describing a quarrelwere instead a "falling down," the words could be rationalized as representing the kind of quarrel where one of the parties is knocked down."

True—a "falling out" is not necessarily the kind of disagreement where the persons come to blows. In fact, in the sense in which it is familiar to all of us, a falling out is not at all suggestive of violence or deep enmity, but rather of the kind of dissension among friends that is quite

Advertising Medium

"A soul exasperated in ills falls out With everything—its friend, lizelf."

And perhaps the most interesting facet of this subject is the essential meaning of "out fall." Webster defines it before noting its obsolete, significance of "a quarrel", as "the mouth of a river, the lower end of a stater course, the open end of a drain, culvert, etc. where the discharge occurs." This is how "outfall," started.

Snap City's Dream Of Burying Wiring

A long-cherished dream, of city council was scrapped yesterday when members of the public works committee decided there was no further use in going ahead with plans which eventually would have put all overhead wiring in the city under the ground.

Estimates of Costs

Decision to scrap the plans customer and would not include was made after E. W. Arnott. vice-president of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. presented a report in which he estimated it would cost between $12,000,000 and $14,0000 to change from an overhead to an underground wiring system in Victoria.

New $27,000 Lifeboat Tied Up in Harbor

MARINE AND TRAVEL NEWS -The Transport Department's new $27,000, 35-foot life-boat, to be stationed at Bamfield, has arrived here from her building place at Isle of Orleans, near Quebec City.

Ss. Maquinn, a veteran of the C.P.R.'s West Coast ser-vice, is now at the Bay Street yard of M.V.D., undergoing boiler repairs. Repairs have forced cancel-ation of one trip to West Coast ports. She will resume service August 15.

NEW CONTRACT

Marine workers in five Vancouver wooden boatyards will ask for a new wage contract, union officials announced yesterday.

The union's agreement with the five operators became null and void fast week, when the B.C. Labor Belations Boardcanceled the organization's certification because the 600 workers refused to work overtime.

Eye-Pleasing Silverbriar Repaired Here

One of few two-funnel combination cargo-passenger ships in the world is Silver Line's fine Silverbriar. The beauti-fully-designed vessel, of 7.242 gross tons and 503 feet overall, left government dry dock here yesterday evening after being in basin two days. During that time workmen of Yarrows Ltd. cleaned and painted her, attended to minor repairs and a general overhaul. Ship is in worldwide service. From here she proceeded to Vancouver. While in drydock, the Silverbriar attracted attention of many local shipping men.—(Celonist photo by Jim Ryah.)

PRINCE GEORGE
OUTBOUND

VANCOUVER, Aug. 7.—Outbound for Skagway, the Canadian National cruise ship Prince George has left port here with 269 passengers.

The older company vessel, Ss. Prince Hupert, left Monday night for the round five-day voyage to Ketchikan, loaded to capacity with passengers and cargo.

Prominent passengers on the present 10-day crubse of Ss. Prince George are Federal Court Judge Ben Harrison of Los Angeles, who figured prominently in the trial of gambler Mickey Cohen; Miss Hazel Marshall, Hollywood, who heads the film library of Paramount Pictures Corporation; W. H. Summerhays, who heads a lumber firm in Brantford, Ontario. He is president of the Ontario Retail Lumber Association and a director of the National Association.

Victoria Firm, Lithographers, Sign Pay Pact

Agreement has been reached between Diggon Hibben Ltd., Victoria, and the 'Amalgamated Lithographers of America, Local 44 (A.F.L.T.L.C.), it was announced yesterday by the Labor Relations Board.

The agreement provides for a wage increase to journeymen of 13½ cents an hour, with an equivalent percentage increase to multolith operators and other categories, effective June 18.

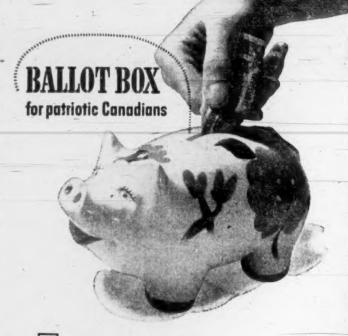

Settlement has been reached between Victoria Press Ltd. and the Victoria Newspaper Guild, Local 219 (A.F.L.T.L.C.).

Employees engaged in advertising, circulation, accounting and maintenance departments have reached an agreement calling for union shop, security of employment, dismissal pay, two weeks vacation after one year service, car allowance, night differential and retroactive wage increases.

The Labor Board has named Philip Fleming of Victoria chairman of a conciliation board which will hear a dispute between Nanimo Transfer and the General Truck Drivers and Helpers Union, Local 31.

Other members of the board are

Other members of the board are E. Butcher and C. E. Jones, both of Nanaimo, nominees of the company and the union, respec-tively.

ODAY, our first duty as Canadians is to back up our country's efforts to meet all threats to our freedom

To do this, we must be strong not only in arms but also in our economy. And to keep our economy strong, we must do everything possible to fight rising prices!

How can you help fight this inflation?

One important way: by saving money! Nowadays, every dollar you spend for things you don't need helps to boost prices. But the money you save — in bank deposits, savings bonds or life insurance — "votes" sgainst the menace of inflation.

Remember too - savings help you. And your life insurance savings help

So . . . to support Canada's defense efforts . . . to help yourself . . . save money every way you can right now!
